

Autism Is A Superpower

My brother Brendan has autism
So he is not like us
People think he can't do anything
But really he can do just enough

People stare and stare at him
Like he has a rare disease
The unfairness that is shown to him
Just makes me shake at my knees

He gets a lot of speech therapy
From a girl called Karen he knows
But sometimes he may need more help
Like learning how to say hello

I love my brother Brendan
So I don't see him just as my brother
Instead I see him as a brilliant boy
Who loves me just like my mother.

By Corinne Toh, Age 9